CONDITIONS IN THE ARMY

Lieutenant General Chaffee suggests that States Disfranchise Deserters. KORE MEN NEEDED IN ARTILLERY CO. P 3 He says that the Law Creating the General Staff is Producing Good Results—Officers Favor Canteen.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Lieutenant General Chaffee, chief of staff of the United States army, in his annual report says in his opinion that the general law creating the general staff is producing good results. He says sufficient time has not elapsed since the reorganization of the army to determine wisely what legislation is necessary. He suggests the enactment of state laws disfranchising deserters from the army.

Abundant proof of the wisdom of congress in establishing the new corps and preparing its duties is given in the report of its first year's work, which warrants the confident expectation that in the time to come the most important objects of the law will be fully accomplished.

The Merchant Marine Commission resumed its session today. Senator Gallinger, the chairman, announced that the hearings were about concluded, but that the commission had thought it proper at this time to invite naval and postoffice department officials to be present today, the former to submit their opinion of the desirability of a merchant marine as auxiliary to the navy and the latter to speak of the benefits to accrue to the postal service as a result of an improved merchant marine.

Secretary Metcalf, of the Department of Commerce and Labor, also was invited to attend the hearing. Secretary Morton's views of the relations of the government to the merchant marine in the foreign trade was that it was simply a question of competition. He said that in order to build up a large American shipping interest in this country it will be necessary to meet the competition of other nations.

Schools in Philippines

The bureau of insular affairs, War department, is in receipt of a number of bulletins published by the Bureau of Education, Manila, which show that the system of public instruction introduced into the islands is eminently practical.

Particular attention has been given to normal school work in order to train up a class of native teachers for the public schools of the islands and this course has been pursued with eagerness by hundreds of natives, but at present there is no institution in the Philippines in which instruction is given in English of a sufficiently advanced character to fit students to enter American colleges.

Another school that will have a profound influence on the development of the islands is the nautical school. The coast line of the islands is greater than that of the United States, and as there is at present almost a total lack of railroads, and the highways being in poor condition for the most part, the waters of the archipelago must continue to be used as a means of transportation.

Suffering in Turkey. A story of sickness, hunger and starvation has come to the State department from Constantinople. Norton, the American consul at Harput, in a report upon the condition of the Zassun population in the Mush district. The consul says of the 10,000 survivors of the recent massacre few have saved anything but their lives. Nearly 1,000 houses in the region were ransacked and burned.

German Government Willing. Secretary Hay has received from the German government a cordial note accepting in principle President Roosevelt's suggestion for another conference at The Hague. As the president's suggestion contained no reference to the time of the second meeting, the German government's consent does not commit itself on this point and awaits the pleasure of the other powers.

May Sign British Treaty. At the State department an announcement was made that the government hopes soon to conclude with Great Britain an arbitration treaty identical with those recently signed with France, Germany and other powers. The treaty will be signed by Secretary Hay and Sir Mortimer Durant, the British ambassador.

REITERATES STORY OF SALE

Chicago People Again Hear Union Pacific Has Bought Great Western. MAY DIVIDE ROAD WITH OTHER LINES Speculation as to Course of Allocated Purchaser Finds Several Theories Advanced by People Claiming to Know.

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—The Post says: "The report that the Union Pacific has purchased the Chicago Great Western road was reiterated this afternoon with such positive and circumstantial evidence in its favor that it received general acceptance. The deal, which has been pending for some time, was said to have been closed, and the Chicago Great Western will shortly lose its identity as an independent road and either be wholly absorbed by the Union Pacific itself or distributed piecemeal among the eastern connections of the system.

One report has it that the Chicago Great Western will be divided between the Chicago & Northwestern and the Milwaukee & St. Paul systems, both of which have for several years been close connections of the Union Pacific. The Northwestern, it is said, will take that portion of the Map Leaf which runs from Marshalltown, Ia., to Kansas City, and the Milwaukee & St. Paul will take the St. Paul end of the line.

There is another view of the case, however, which is that the Union Pacific will keep the Map Leaf and operate it as its eastern end of its own system. It will, it is declared, give the Union Pacific a very good outlet from Omaha to Chicago and the short line from Omaha to St. Paul.

JIMMY MICHAEL DIES AT SEA

Famous Bicycle Rider Passes Away While Enroute to the Fair—Congestion of Brain.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—"Jimmy" Michael, the noted middle distance bicycle rider, died suddenly last Monday morning on board the French line steamship La Savoie of congestion of the brain. Michael was coming to the United States to race again and was accompanied by a number of long distance riders, who are to enter the six-day contest here in December.

Michael complained of being ill on Sunday, saying to the ship's doctor that he was suffering from a very severe headache and nausea. He told Dr. Maire that his illness, he thought, was due to the after effects of a severe fall he received in Berlin two years ago.

"Since then," said Michael, "I have had partial paralysis of the left side of my face and am frequently subject to lapses of memory. I do not feel at all myself. Do what you can to relieve me of this awful pain."

Dr. Maire attended the bicycle rider faithfully during the remainder of the day and by night had succeeded in relieving him of the pain. Michael was able to eat his dinner that evening, and according to the head steward of the ship was the happiest and brightest member of the party. He retired early and did not complain of feeling ill. About 3 o'clock Monday morning his companion, Jean Gougoltz, a French bicyclist, heard Michael struggling violently in his stateroom. Dr. Maire, who was at once alerted, pronounced Michael's condition to be dangerous. He was in violent delirium until 10 o'clock in the morning and an hour later died. Dr. Maire said that death was caused by congestion of the brain, undoubtedly due to a blood clot which had formed as a result of the accident at Berlin.

Michael's companion bicycle riders were unharmed by his sudden death. They said that when they embarked he had been the life of the party.

The first news of Michael's death was a wireless telegram to P. T. Powers, manager of the six-day race, received from Gougoltz. Mr. Powers and several friends met the steamship at the pier and took charge of the dead bicyclist. Mr. Powers said he sent a dispatch to Michael's mother in Wales, informing her of her son's death. The body will be sent to Wales on the first available steamer.

able once more to visit Indianapolis, saying among other things: "I have always thought a great deal of Indiana and I had reason to be more of it than ever. I thank you all for coming out here to see me and I assure you that I appreciate it."

"What's the matter with Ohio?" yelled someone in the crowd. "Not a thing," answered President Roosevelt, "and I want to tell you that there are a lot of other good things."

Learning over the rail, the president asked, "What's the matter with Missouri?" Deafening cheers greeted the question. After exchanging a few pleasantries with the people and bidding them good night, the president retired to his stateroom, amid tremendous cheering. At this juncture Captain Harry S. New, vice chairman of the national republican committee, hurried through the gates and ran toward the special. A secret service officer announced Captain New to the president, who appeared on the platform to greet the vice chairman. Captain New accompanied the president into the private car Signal, where he remained until the special started. The crowd remained at the station and cheered the departing train until it disappeared.

Protection for the President. ST. LOUIS, Nov. 25.—The exposition management, police officials, government secret service officers and those in command of the United States troops in charge of the World's fair, after several conferences, completed arrangements today for the protection of President Roosevelt from any possible harm during his visit to the exposition tomorrow. It is officially stated that President Roosevelt's special train will reach the World's fair at 9:30 tomorrow morning. It will not go to Union station, but will be switched to the Wash tracks and run to the fair grounds, where it will be met either at the Wash station or west of the Transportation building.
